2.2 - Honoring Student Diversity

2.2.1 - Assessment process is in place at entry level to identify different learning needs of students and their level of readiness to undergo professional education programme and also the academic support provided to students Describe the assessment process at entry level to identify different learning needs of students and their level of readiness to undergo professional education programme and also the academic support provided to students, in not more than 100-200 words.

For admission to the B.Ed. program, students must pass a common entrance exam. The results can be used to determine the content knowledge of the students.their last examinations. Admission does not require a formal interview. Nevertheless, when they come to campus to complete admissions-related tasks, students interact with faculty. These informal talks with students can reveal information about what they need to learn. Discussions with former students and insights from prior cohorts indicate potential areas in which academic support may be most needed. Academic support is provided in the form of topic enrichment programs, technical training, academic counseling for selecting elective courses, and mentorship for critical classroom skills like communication based on all of these aspects. Prior to starting their internship, students conduct brief lessons in their chosen field.

2.3 - Teaching- Learning Process

2.3.1 - Multiple mode approach to teaching-learning is adopted by teachers which includes experiential learning, participative learning, problem solving methodologies, brain storming, focused group discussion, online mode, etc. for enhancing student learning Describe the varied modes of learning adopted and their basic rationale for adopting such learning mode/s for different courses of each programme in not more than 100-200 words.

Participatory education

The school made excellent use of student-centered teaching strategies, which offered a wonderful chance for interactive learning.

B.Ed. pupils had to observe and demonstrate yoga classes with other school pupils as part of their teaching practice.

Experiential learning

B.Ed. students had micro-teaching sessions where they learned and practiced a variety of teaching techniques. As part of their preparation to become teachers, this improves their experiential learning. B.Ed. student instructors were set up with internship training in schools.

Problem Solving Methodologies

The students were required to fill out the CCE record throughout their teaching practice in order to encourage the use of problem-solving approaches.

Focused Group Discussion

To define action research as focused group conversation, a research colloquium was convened.

Action research, unit test preparation, lesson planning, writing learning outcomes, and creating learning tools are all covered in workshops.

Mentoring with respect to Working in teams

Students are mentored by the faculty members overseeing co-curricular activities in order to plan events. Every cultural program is the outcome of superb collaboration. Coordination is also greatly aided by the student council. The portfolio of co-curricular activities is entrusted to one student council member, who is also in charge of organizing the events.

Mentoring for student diversity

Books are shared in digital libraries to help students understand ways to deal with student diversity. The course Learning and Teaching and all Pedagogy courses also focus on student diversity. Students apply this in delivering lessons based on Multiple Intelligence.

Mentoring regarding conduct of self with colleagues and authorities

Students receive an explanation of the code of conduct, which provides guidance on how to behave with teachers and fellow students. Similar to this, the faculty head reviews the code of conduct with the internship group before sending them to the schools for an internship.

Mentoring regarding balancing home and work stress

Mentoring is carried out on a one-to-one basis as well as on a group basis. Relevant material is shared and discussed and students are encouraged to apply the learning to their individual life.

2.4.11 - Institution adopts effective monitoring mechanisms during internship programme. Describe in not more than 100-200 words, the monitoring mechanisms adopted to ensure optimal impact of internship in schools with specific reference to the role of teacher educators, school principal, school teachers and peers.

The duties of the many people involved in the monitoring process for a successful internship experience are clearly defined. Teacher educators consult the school principal about internship arrangements and make sure that the college and the internship school are properly coordinated. They assist in creating the schedule for classes and activities and coach the interns. Lesson preparation is coached for student teachers. As the internship took place online in 2022-2023, teacher educators assisted in selecting and developing pertinent e-resources. In general, the school principal or coordinator communicates with the interns and provides guidance as needed.. Collaboration with the college professors was used to accomplish this. The teachers assigned units and explained what was expected of the pupils. Before giving the provided video lessons to the pupils, they also watched them. The interns received comments from the instructors on the courses. In order to plan the schedules, run the events, and work with the teachers, peer assistance was very essential. As this was their first offline internship, peers helped one another to create excellent technology-based lessons.

- In house discussions on current developments and issues in education
- Share information with colleagues and with other institutions on policies and regulations

Teachers who attend workshops, seminars, and courses maintain up-to-date professional knowledge. Discussions in the home are

Faculty members learned about the revisions to the Revised NAAC framework through seminars. Discussions on pertinent topics are held in class. Financial literacy and mental health programs were attended by all faculty members. Because instruction and evaluation would take place online, all faculty members attended training on technology and education as well. Information regarding new directions in teacher education can be effectively shared and distributed. Interaction of regulations and policies with other institutions: In order to attend professional development activities that other schools hold, the faculty arranges with them, and this forum is helpful for discussing topics that have an impact on teacher education. Faculty members serve as resource people and during these programmes, they exchange opinions and engage in conversation about matters pertaining to education. This makes it easier to learn different viewpoints on important issues.

2.6.4 - The institution adheres to academic calendar for the conduct of Internal Evaluation Describe the mechanism of adhering to academic calendar for the conduct of Internal Evaluation in the institution in not more than 100-200 words.

The academic calendar is prepared at the beginning of each term. The schedules for essays, submission of assignments, internship and other project based activities are spread throughout the term so as to provide adequate time to complete the activities after required exploration and reference work. Faculty issues timely reminders about the submission. Provision is made on Google classroom to upload the documents. In case of illness or any other unforeseen difficulties, late submission is permitted with the consent of the concerned faculty. By and large the schedule is followed. The Class tests and practice examinations are planned at the beginning of the term but these may be rescheduled as per the arrangement of the terms declared by the University and as per the dates of the final examination declared. 2.7 - Student Performance and Learning Outcomes

2.7.1 - The teaching learning process of the institution is aligned with the stated PLOs and CLOs. Describe the way in which institution ensures alignment of stated PLOs and CLOs with the teaching learning process in not more than 100 - 200 words.

The scheduled activities always take the PLOs for both the co-curricular and academic components into consideration. The CLOs are taken into consideration while choosing appropriate teaching, learning, and evaluation activities for each course. Changes occurring on the educational landscape require the programme to be constantly updated and accordingly Value Added Courses and interaction with experts are organised. The PLOs are considered again in this case. Value Added Courses have their own set of CLOs. Faculty members revisit the CLOs and check if the CLOs are being met through the course. Entire curriculum is mapped with the PLOs and wherever possible a cross disciplinary approach is adopted.

2.7.5 - Performance of students on various assessment tasks reflects how far their initially identified learning needs are catered to. Describe with examples the extent to which the assessment task and the performance of students reflect their initially identified learning needs in not more than 100 -200 words.

The students initial learning needs can be classified as

(i) Content needs

(ii) pedagogic needs

(iii) technological needs.

Students in the B.ED. programs are exposed to a wide range of experiences and materials that are tailored to meet their individual learning needs. A content test is used to evaluate topic mastery, which is developed through the content enrichment program. In a similar manner, students' classes are evaluated for content knowledge. When the B.Ed. degree is over, all students have a fair amount of topic mastery. Developing the capacity to teach in a classroom and use tactics appropriate for the students' level is one of the pedagogic demands. Effective class planning and execution are skills that students must possess. Through workshops, internships, and class management sessions, the demands are appropriately met. All of the students have demonstrated growth in their pedagogical abilities, doing well when delivering courses in both online and offline mode. The technological skill gap showed that students were aware of general applications of technology but they needed to use technology in pedagogic scenarios. This was achieved through workshops and certificate courses and all students have used technology seamlessly to have interactive lessons. Technology has been used in action research and for innovative techniques in the class.
